

Secondary Position (Start Date August 2012)

High School English/Humanities

A teacher of Humanities and English is required. Responsibilities will include some teaching in the IB Middle Years or Diploma programme and also developing new High School courses in English and Humanities. The exact responsibilities will depend upon the strengths of the candidate.

The High School courses are intended to provide an accessible alternative to the IB courses for a small number of students. There is considerable scope for creativity and input into the content of these courses and the successful candidate will be someone who enjoys alternative and innovative ways of approaching these subjects.
